Report:

The Research Centre of English organised a National Webinar on “Literature, Culture and Media: A Semiotic Intersection” on 26 July 2021. Dr Michelle Philip, Associate Professor and Head, Department of English, Wilson College, Mumbai served as the resource person. Her presentation began with a detailed introduction to Culture as a process of intellectual, spiritual and aesthetic development. She also explained how certain groups exercised political power and police the culture of the powerless. The second aspect of her discussion gave a comprehensive view of the literary canon. While explaining the incomparable importance of the visual media, Dr. Michelle Philip touched upon the relevance of Semiotics and Deconstruction, Psychoanalysis, Spectatorship theory, Marxist theory and Media and Reception theory by citing a lot of illustrations. She pointed out how human beings are involved in the process of discovering both denotative and connotative meanings out of the media texts. The most interesting part of the session included the case studies which reiterated the theoretical concepts with pertinent examples. The highlight of the webinar is an eclectic mix of participants from both learning and teaching fraternity. 473 national and international participants participated in it and registered their feedback. Dr. S Parvathi, Assistant Professor of the Research Centre of English welcomed the resource person and the participants. Ms. Deva Sudha, Assistant Professor of the Research Centre of English proposed the vote of thanks.
