WORKSHOP

Workshop on Herbal Sanitary Napkins Making and Organic Soap Making

In a growing world of pollution filled with health hazards everywhere, personal hygiene for women still remains as a faded dream and exists in a pitiful state. The III UG English students of Fatima College addressed this issue by organising a workshop on Herbal Sanitary Napkins Making and Organic Soap Making to promote the hygiene of rural women and to empower them through self-employment. The Womenfolk in the village gathered in the primary school for the workshop. Mrs.Kannamma who is also famously called as the Paruthipen trained the villagers to make organic sanitary napkins.

Mrs.Kannamma stated the importance of using Eco-friendly organic sanitary napkins that is made using cotton cloth, cotton, herbal powder and cotton canvas cloth. She stated the importance of Eco- Friendly, bio-degradable and organic napkins which are healthier than the products available at the market and bio-degradable as well. Mrs.Kannamma made Eco-friendly organic sanitary napkins of six different types and four sizes-L, XL, and XXL & XXXL. The villagers found it interesting and clarified their doubts in the discussion session after the training got over.

The students of III B.A English trained the villagers to prepare home-made organic soap making and created awareness about how organic soaps are much better than the chemical soaps that are sold at shops. They spoke on the health benefits and eco-sustainability of the organic soaps. They further stated that kitchen waste and garden waste can be reduced by adding them to the customised soaps one can create within minutes. The villagers were given sample raw products to help them in their primary stage of soap making. Samples of sanitary napkins were also distributed to the villagers.
