Report : I year AICUF students were assembled in front of SM block to speak about the Effects on Social Media Positive Vs Negative. 40 students were divided into two groups to talk for and against. They were given 15 minutes to discuss their ideas. Some students argued for the positive effects and some against the positive. There were so many notable points presented by each team. The following ideas were highlighted by the students:

Positive:

- Social networking is said to increase a person's quality of life.
- Social networking sites allow people to communicate and remain in contact with friends as well as meet new people.
- Now social networking is becoming mobile and can be accessed through the use of a cell phone. It also has helped with communication skills, and allows the learning of cultures from users all over the world.

Negative:

- Many social sites reduce the amount of face to face socializing and replace it with online interaction which is believed to result in low quality relationships with other people

- Social networking becoming mobile use will increase cell phone use and the problem with that is that cell phones have been found to emit electromagnetic radiation that is absorbed by the brain and body

Outcome : Social networking is a very valuable tool that can be used to meet new people, and allow people to remain in contact with friends. Even though it can waste time, social networking positively affects the world by allowing people.
